

Investment Mines that can Blow up Your Portfolio

Written by Tim Decker, AIF®
Friday, 30 October 2015 00:00

The stock market is strewn with minefields that can blow up your investment portfolio-if you let them.

Often people are led to these mines by misconceptions derived from the assertions of market players, which you should make every effort to disregard. This is tough because there are so many of them, and they're often repeated in the financial media.

Read More