

Technology can be an invaluable tool in many areas of our life. However, when it comes to helping you reach your financial goals and guiding you through times of market volatility, it is paramount that you have a caring, personal financial advisor. And as the following brief video highlights, advice given by a robo-advisor, via an algorithm, will never be a substitute for personal interaction with an advisor at times when you may need it most.