

The retail mutual fund industry has long been known for their slick marketing in their ongoing efforts to entice consumers to invest with them. In this brief, three-minute video we cut through and expose some of their deceptive tactics and help you become better informed.